"OUR HOMESTEAD."

PHEES CARY. Our old brown homestead reared its walls

From the wayside dust aloof, Where the apple bough could almost cast Its trust upon the roof; And the cherry tree to near it grew, That when awake I've lain In the lonesome night I've heard the limbs As they creaked against the pane. And those orchard trees-Oh, those orchard

I've seen my little brothers rocked In their tops by the Summer breeze. The sweet griar under the window sill, aich the early hirds made glad And the damask rose by the garden fence, Were all the flowers we had. I've looked at many flowers since theu-Exatios rich and rare—

That to other eyes were leveller, at not to me so fair. For those roses bright-oh! those roses I've twined them in my sister's locks

That are laid in the dust from eight. We had a well, a deep old well, Where the spring was never dry, And the cool drops from the mossy stones

Ware falling constantly And there never was water half so sweet As the draught which filled my cup,
Drawn up to the curb by the rade old sweep,
That my father's hand set up
And that deep old well—sh! that deep old

I remember now the plashing sound Of the bucket as it lell.

Our homestend had an ample hearth, Where at night we loved to meet; There my mother's voice was always kind, And her smile was always aweet; And there I've sat on my father's knee And watched his thoughtful brow, With my childish hand in his raven hair—

That hair is silver now! But that broad hearth's light-oh! that broad To the Honorable Board of Mayor and Alder-And my lather's look and my mother's smile, They are in my heart to-night,
